MODERN SOLUTIONS FOR AGING INFRASTRUCTURE

NATIONAL WATER INFRASTRUCTURE

THE CHALLENGE

Ascension Parish has grown rapidly, but its wastewater infrastructure has not kept pace. Unlike many neighboring communities, the parish does not have a regional wastewater system. Instead, it relies on dozens of aging neighborhood package treatment plants that are increasingly costly to operate and maintain and also contribute to environmental concerns.

As a result, local waterways have become impaired, drainage capacity has been reduced, and residents and businesses continue to bear the cost and inconvenience of on-site, neighborhood sewer treatment plants.

THE SOLUTION

NWI's regional wastewater initiative is a transformational investment in Ascension Parish's future. The project will construct a $185 million, state-of-the-art regional wastewater treatment facility.

The regionalized system will:

- Remove up to 4 million gallons of treated wastewater from local waterways per day.
- Treat wastewater using ultraviolet light instead of chemicals to disinfect it before being discharged into the Mississippi River.
- Improve drainage capacity by reducing discharges into existing drainage channels.
- Decommission 72 neighborhood sewer treatment plants and replace with one modern, efficient regional system.
- Improve water quality and strengthen environmental stewardship throughout the parish.

~$550,000 was dedicated to recreational improvements from the NWI franchise agreement over the past year.*
